

THE NATION'S LEADER IN CHILD SEXUAL ABUSE PREVENTION.

ABOUT ABUSE PREVENTION SYSTEMS

Our mission is to protect children and those who serve them.

After decades of litigating sexual abuse cases and providing consultation and crisis management to child-serving organizations, Gregory Love and Kimberlee Norris founded Abuse Prevention Systems (APS) to help programs meet legal standards of care and reduce the risk of child sexual abuse.

APS grew out of a desire to provide child-serving organizations of all sizes with the tools and resources to prevent child sexual abuse proactively.

APS attorneys have expertise that members know and trust.

WHY DOES MY PROGRAM NEED APS?

Many organizations retain the false impression that 'my program is not at risk'.

APS training equips organizational leadership, staff members and volunteers to recognize the offender's 'grooming process' and report grooming behaviors before abuse occurs.

Offenders are drawn to child-serving programs with fewer protections in place.

HOW WELL DOES YOUR ORGANIZATION PROTECT CHILDREN FROM SEXUAL ABUSE?

The first step in evaluating and improving child protection efforts is determining where your program currently stands.

- Does your organization train staff members and volunteers to understand reporting requirements mandated by state law?
- Are staff members and volunteers trained to recognize common grooming behaviors and the 'grooming process' of the sexual offender?
- Do your hiring and screening personnel utilize questions meant to elicit high-risk responses? Would they recognize a high-risk response from an applicant?
- Do new volunteers and staff members undergo an intentional screening process before interacting with children or youth, including an application, criminal background check, reference checks, and interview?
- Do staff members and volunteers in high trust or less easily supervised positions undergo a more comprehensive criminal background check?

CHILD SEXUAL ABUSE FACTS

1 in 4 females and 1 in 6 males will have been sexually abused before reaching 18 years of age.

Check-in and matching tag systems prove ineffective at protecting children from sexual abuse, because 90% of victims are abused by someone they know and trust.

2 out of 3 children don't tell about abuse until adulthood, if ever.

In one large study, the number of victims for the average convicted male abuser:
who molests girls = average of 52 victims who molests boys = average of 150 victims

Less than 10% of child sexual abusers will encounter the criminal justice system, ever.

Less than 8% of outcries or allegations of child sexual abuse are false.

To gain access to children, abusers groom the gatekeepers - trusted adults in a program - by appearing helpful, trustworthy, and responsible.

There is no visual profile of an abuser. Abusers come from all segments of society: they are often 'religious', married, educated, attractive, and have families.

5-PART SAFETY SYSTEM

Awareness Training. We can't reduce a risk that we don't understand. Equip employees and volunteers with facts to recognize the offender's 'grooming process.' Send online trainings to program leaders, staff members, and volunteers.

Skillful Screening. Keeping the wolf out of the sheep pen. Utilize questions meant to elicit high-risk responses, and train screening employees to recognize high-risk indicators. Download and customize sample screening forms.

Policies & Procedures. Policies are what you do, not what you say you do. Policies must be rooted in the 'grooming process' and tailored to fit the specific programmatic needs of your organization. Download and customize sample policies.

Background Checks. Checking past criminal records is an important screening element, but not a stand alone safety protocol, because less than 10% of abusers will encounter the criminal justice system. Use our Control Panel to order from seven levels of background checks.

Monitoring & Oversight. Ensure ongoing Safety System compliance through our Control Panel's simple and efficient automation.
